

Young Mathematicians Conference

at The Ohio State University

ymc.osu.edu

The Young Mathematicians Conference provides an opportunity for undergraduate students around the country to present their independent work. The conference also serves as a forum for faculty members who are involved in mentoring undergraduate research.

SPECIAL LECTURES BY:

Maria Chudnovsky (Columbia University)

Terence Tao (University of California, Los Angeles)

Karen Vogtmann (Cornell University)

EVENTS / ACTIVITIES

Short talks and poster sessions by undergraduates

Graduate school orientation

Forum for mentors

Social events

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

We expect to cover most travel and lodging expenses of invited undergraduate participants and accompanying faculty mentors. Students and faculty are cordially invited to participate and apply for financial support.

For details visit ymc.osu.edu.

Organizers: Rodica Costin, Thomas Kerler, Bart Snapp (Ohio State), and Craig Jackson (Ohio Wesleyan) Advisory Board: Ruth Charney, Dennis DeTurck, Robert Devaney, Carolyn Gordon, Aloysius Helminck, Aparna Higgins, Bryna Kra, Donal O'Shea, Alayne Parson, Kim Whittlesey

The conference is funded by NSF Grant DMS-0841054 and supported by the Department of Mathematics at Ohio State.

For more information, please e-mail us at ymc@math.osu.edu

July 27-29, 2012

